

I do not wish to see the rule changed from what it is now. If it is changed to the new proposed rule, then I could see a senerio such as one or just a few companies owning and running all media in this country. This monopoly would not be good for the public, only the media owner.

Fair views would probably not be expressed in the news anymore, etc. and everything would probably become one-sided. Monopoly is good in some cases but when it comes to the media we should have the right to enjoy numerous viewpoints with competition being a driving force. Leaving the rule as is, I think, is the best and most fair policy. Thank you.
